The Nationalists seem deeply concerned over America's attitude, especially over fears expressed about fulfillment of the Dawes plan's obligations and possible resurrection of the monarchial cause of the renewed discussion Improvements

A novel reason for not wishing to re-establish the monarchy at present was given by a former officer on Hindenburg's personal staff, he said:

"Do you think for a moment that we would erect a monarchy at the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad to proceed with a $2,000,000 construction program, which includes improvements worth more than $1,500,000 in the sould? Woman Whose Husband Killed Mack is Released After Vice Squad Quis

The police vice squad last night raided an asserted bootleg establishment at 1087 West Thirty-fifth Place and found among the guests in the house, Mrs. Violet Ruth Southern, whose husband, Zane Southern, recently was sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin for shooting to death Randolph E. Mack in an "affair of honor" which concerned Mrs. Southern. Officers Leelle, Buxton, Grey and Elliott raided the West Thirty-fifth street place in response to numerous complaints that bootlegging was being carried on at that address. The officers found a gallon of liquor, numerous whisky glasses, four men and three women in the house. The identity of Mrs. Southern was admitted by several of the guests, according to the officers. V. O. Spencer, who admitted ownership of the liquor, was arrested for violating the Wright Act. The other persons present, including Mrs. Southern, were released after interrogation. Zane Southern, November 23, 1924, shot and killed Mack, a theatrical agent, in the Frost Building at Fourth and Broadway. Southern said he committed the murder to protect his wife's honor. Fellowing southern sued for divorce.

reason Herman won was because he was a better clincher than the captain. The bout was one big succession of clinches. In between the wrestling, they did some boxing.

The bout wasn't anything to write home about except for one fact: Strangler Lewis, Big Munn or Stanislaus Zbyssko would be a clinch for such educated wrestlers as either Herman or Roper. Herman and Roper were more or less slow and they missed a lot of punches. Both would land a blow then fall into a clinch. The first few rounds went to Roper, but Herman got up some speed in the latter frames and copped the verdict.

By virtue of a knockdown in the second round. Roy Cliffe got a decision over Tommy Richards in the stround semi-wind-up. Cliffe has pleked up some experience and looks better every time he enters the ring. Last night's fight was pretty much all his way, Richards having little chance, aitheugh he (Continued on Page 2, Column 2)

After the fight, when the boys were in the shower, they complimented one another, and Simone remarked, according to Allen, that he had not been hurt by his opponent's hlows, but he just couldn't seem to get going.

On the way to his dressing-room, Allen said, he passed Simone's room and called out to him: "Well, so long; no hard feelings."

"None at all, old man. See you laier," returned Simone. That was the last time Allen saw Simone alive. CRUSHES DYNAMITERS Lincoln High School's baseball team, touted as the hardest-hitting squad in the city, annihilated Glon-BREEZES RUIN

Telegraphing from Topeka, Kan., yesterday, Nurmi informed Rainbow Division officials who are conducting the huge athletic show at the Collseum that he has finally decided on the distance of the race in which he will meet the Sherman school Indians. Three miles, not an inch farther, is the route over which Nurmi will battle against the eight stout-hearted, fleet-of-foot red men. Although Nurmi's decision needed no alibi, Quist added that the distance is that at which the mighty Finn is now at his best and is the yardage which gives the crowd the best race. Quist also said that Nurmi will not make a decision on whether he will run one mile against Lloyd Hahn until after he arrives in Los Angeles.

Sam Crawford, one of baseball's grand old men, is bossing the Trojan mine and Wilkie Clarke, a former big leaguer, is working on the intellects of the Tigers. So far this year Occidental has lost only two games, one to the Trojans at the start of the season and one to the University of Arisons. They have ovened matters with U.S.C. and took the first series from Arisona that college has lost in five years. They also beat stanford twice. OBSERVATIONS

LOS ANGELES UNLIMBERS title for this part of the country.

The two games that have been played between the Trojans and the Tigers, with a victory to each team, have been bitterly contested and both have gone into extra innings, the Trojans winning a wild ten-inning battle at the start of the season and the Tigers being victorious yesterday, 4 to 3, in eleven innings of baseball that verged on regulation Coast League stuff. They ought to get together and play off the deciding game.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) April 21. Mrs. Gray Yeavelle, secretary of the Associated Charities, has re-Louisiana of a family of "tin can"

Louisiana of a family of "tin can" tourists aided in San Antonio after driving a tireless automobile from Phoenix.

According to Mrs. Teavelle the owner of the car, a man 50 years of age, asked the Associated Charities to buy some new casings for his car, fill his tank with gasoline and oil and feed his family. He was destitute. His wife had six small children, oldest of the lot a 14-year-old girl, and all were in rags.

"I'm from Los Angeles," he told Mrs. Leavelle, "trying to make my way to Louisiana in this car." FED THE FAMILY

Mrs. Leavelle, after calling on some of her cash reserve, fed the entire family and then proceeded to question them a little more fully about their case.

This man, formerly a farmer on the Pacific Coast, meeting with sudden reverses in finances and health, had decided to sell everything he had and buy a car so that all of his family could make the trip to Louislana, where relatives lived. At Phoenix the family met with added misfortune. A thief stole all of the tires from the car while they were sleeping nearby.

car while they were sleeping nearby.

He appealed to the Phoenix Associated Charities. They could not buy three for his machine, but the secretary of the Arizona erganization gave the family a week's supply of food and $20 to carry them on their way.

At El Paso they again appealed to charitable organizations for aid. There they were given more food and more money—even had the tank of the old car filled with gasoline.

Eventually they drifted to San'

Mrs. Leavelle, after checking up on the man's story found it accurate. She took the wife and chidren under her care and fed them.
Then she advised the man to sell his car and get in touch with his relatives in Louisiana.

A few hours later the entire family was on the train, bound for their old home, riding on tickets bought by the Associated

have been awarded and construction will be started as soon as equipment and laborers can be assembled, it is stated. Most of the larger cities of Mexico are fairly well improved in the matter of paved streets, but there is a general lack of good roads in the rural districts.

While it is possible to make an automobile trip from Nuevo Larreds on the Rio Grande border to Monterey, thence to Mexico City, the going is so rough that few persons care to attempt it. In many places along this former camino real the roadway is so narrow that an automobile can barely get by.

There is an entire absence of bridges. It is stated in this connection that under the contracts recently awarded for constructing these trunk highways provision is made for building modern bridges wherever they may be needed.

Floors that deaden noise—

Noisy, nerve-wracking clatter has been barred out from this and many other modern hospitals by restful, resilient Bonded Floors. But noiselessness alone would not be sufficient to account for the popularity of Bonded Floors for buildings of every description.

In clubs, homes, exclusive shops and restaurants, the harmonious and artistic designs which can be secured in Bonded Floors are considered their chief advantage. For public buildings and offices, it is their economy, ease of maintenance and durability-backed by a Surety Bond against repair expense, issued by the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co.

Here in Los Angeles, Bonded Floors customers include the Part Time School, Friday Morning Clubhouse, F. W. Woolworth Co., California Bank, and many others.

Our organization supplies various types of resilient floors—solid-colored floors of Gold-Seal Battleship Linoleum, or artistic, colorful tiles of new, live rubber, resilient cork composition, or pure natural cork.

Washington Moves to Check

Offender Must Face Music, Bail Refused

BY PREDERIC J. HASKIN WASHINGTON, April 21.—The stablishment of a night traffic court is Washington's latest move in a campaign to make its streets reasonably safe for the citizenry. Once the footpad and the thug terrorized peaceable, law-abiding folk. Now the motorist threatens the safety of every man, woman the streets of the nation's capital The crime waves which swept the country in 1921 and 1922 were not country in 1921 and 1922 were not more inimical to human life than the reckless, careless and inefficient automobilist.

In 1918 Washington had 34,347 vehicles propelled by gasoline motors. Today approximately 100,000 traverse its streets. The noteworthy increase in the number of cars is an undoubted evidence of prosperity, but it also creates a problem which the wisest and most experienced men in traffic direction are finding difficult of solution. The gravity and earnestness with which the matter is being discussed would seem to indicate that little hope is entertained that a completely satisfactory plan can be evolved.

CASES CHOKE COURTS

CASES CHOKE COURTS

With more than 1000 cases on the dockets of the police and traffic courts the judges concluded that some measures must be adopted, some sacrifices made, to speed up the machinery of the law. They accordingly proceeded to open a night traffic court. Now this tribunal works from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Hence, with its day session, the court is active during fourteen out of each twenty-four hours.

fourteen out of each twenty-four hours.

Heretofore violators of the speed laws were permitted to deposit collateral for their appearance in court. Almost invariably the collateral was forfeited by the offenders. In this way there was no record of conviction against them and for escond and subsequent offenses no greater penalties might be inflicted. Collateral no longer is accepted. The traffic officers summarily hale their prisoners before the court. It is quite the usual thing for a policeman to tell the judge: "Ten minutes ago, your honor. I arrested this man for driving thirty miles an hour." Few flustered prisoners can think up a convincing alibi in such a short time.

CROWDS ARE SAFEST

CROWDS ARE SAFEST
Statistics on traffic accidents compiled by the police department for the District of Columbia show that congested sones are by far the safest. Of 103 deaths through automobile accidents during a recent fiscal year, only thirteen occurred in the congested areas, while ninety occurred in the outlying districts. In these suburban streets and avenues motorists feel that the comparatively light traffic imposes less severe restrictions in the matter of speed and watchfulness. The plea is frequently heard in court: "I was out on Rhode Island avenue and there wasn't much traffic, so I thought I could speed up a little." But neither the judges nor the victims agree.

The fact that, except in a few downtown districts, Washington is ments. Perhaps the exuberance of spring culminates in the recklessness of June.

Most fatal traffic casualties in the District of Columbia occur between the hours of noon and midnight. The least dangerous hours are between midnight and dawn. Statisticians and students of automobiling have said that greater care is everywhere exhibited at night and that the darkness, instead of contributing to the danger, increases the caution and watchfulness of drivers.

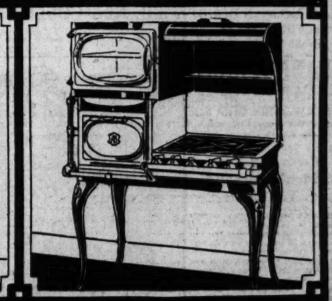

Paris Women's Morning Wear is Gentlemanly

PARIS, April 21.—Gentleman ashions in the feminine dress for morning wear in town are seen everywhere in the Paris streets. The strict tailor-made, the slim The strict tailor-made, the alim top coat, with a neat stock of a colored "comforter" showing above, are much in evidence. Neckties of all kinds are worn with high-necked blouses.

The hats used with these ensembles are dome-shaped, with curied-back brims. They are of felt or straw with trimmings of ribbons, feathers or a buckle or brooch.

He was obstinate and ventured on the ice when common sense should have warned him against it. When the ice gave way and he found himself standing in four feet of freezing cold water, his language was calculated to widen the gap around him.

"Dear me." said a sympathetic old woman, the only witness to the catastrophe, from the bank. "Whatever made you come to fall in like that, sir?"

For a moment he glared at her balefully, then:

"I didn't come to fall in, madam," he said, snapplly. "I came to skate."—[Exchange.

Decisive naval battles may never Decisive naval battles may never occur sgain because the fleets will lie back and watch each other rather than seek combat. This in spite of the fact that control of seapower has decided the most important events of history since the days of the ancients.

Such were the conclusions given to the Chicago Historical Society last night by Dr. John Holland Rose, professor of naval history at Cambridge University.

"He that hath sea power can take as much or as little of war as he willeth." Those words of Francis Bacon, Dr. Rose said, "were true until the World War came along. Then modern science changed everything and the chief naval engagement of the four and one-half years was a four-hour affair between the British Admiral Jellicoe and the German fleet in the North Sea after watching each other for twenty months.

"This battle occurred only because each commander had attempted to set a trap for the other."

FREE 10-Day Test Send the Coupon Maybe your teeth are gloriously clear, simply clouded with a film cost. Make this remarkable test and find out.

Just run your tongue across your teeth

You'll feel a film-that's what makes your teeth look "off color" and invites decay and gum troubles

> Old methods fail to remove it successfully. Beneath it are the dazzling white teeth you envy. Make this remarkable dental test-you may have beautiful teeth and not realize it.

THE test that's offered here has been made by thousands with remarkable results. Authorities pronounce it the most unique of all dental methods. You want clear, beautiful teeth. You can have them—quickly. For this new way goes to the basis of "off color" teeth, the source of most tooth and gum troubles.

In a few years, largely on dental advice, it has changed the tooth cleansing habits of the world. In justice to yourself, use the coupon below.

It removes that stubborn film, the great enemy of teeth and gums

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film . . . a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth-and your gums. You must remove it. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy "off color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fall in successfully combating it. That's why, repartless of the care you take now, your tech remain dull and unattractive.

New methods remove it And Firm the Gume

Now, in a new type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has discov-ered effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then Now what you see when that film is

-will amaze you. Ordinary methods fail in these results. Harsh, gritty substances are judged dangerous to enamel. Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

. . . A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

BANK ACT WINS RESPECT

California Code Introduced Departmental Banking; Operations Segregated; Sartori Given Credit

From California have come so many startling innovations in bank-Cost Accountants Hear Talk ing practice that for several years the State has been the cynosure of all eyes in the banking profession. The branch-bank system originated here in Los Angeles with A. M. Chaffey, president of the California Bank, and it was A. P. Giannini who was first to bring the officers out of their private corners and make them accessible to the public. But underneath all of this progressive development is a piece of day afternoon by the Board of tranking legislation that has commanded the respect and admiration Supervisors to investment banking of bankers throughout the country for the past sixteen years.

The Pacific Oil Company earned $8.40 a share in 1924, in contrast to $2.55 a share the year before. Net profit was $11.893,765, a gain of nearly $3.000,000. Gross earnings reached $23.448,932, an inings reached $23,448,932, an increase of $3,572,930.

Trade conditions in the tire in-dustry appear more stable than for years, President Segar of the United State Rubber Company said today at the annual meeting. Sales and profits of the company for the first quarter were satisfactory and the outlook was encouraging, he asserted.

BAD CHECKS

The following bulletin on bad check writing was is-sued yesterday by the forgery detail of the Los Angeles police department detective bureau:

The police forgery detail calls attention to the activities of a bad check artist using the name of Joe Schmidt, who has been passing a number of worthless checks on apartmenthouse proprietors and persons having rooms to rent. The checks issued by this man have usually been signed by S. M. Muira.

Following is a description of Joe Schmidt: German descent, dark hair, medium build, smooth shaven, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weight 150 pounds, dark complexion. When last seen wore gray

If a person of the above description, or any one having a questionable check in their possession attempts to obtain merchandise or rent a room, notify the nearest police officer or the Station, Metropolitan 6100.

Commission Has Withdrawn Its Stock Protest

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 21 .- Having received assurances from the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe that the Texas stock and bond law will be complied with, the State Railroad Commission has with-drawn its protest against the Atchison's application to the In Atchison's application to the In-terstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue stocks and bonds for several of its Texas sub-sidiaries. In connection with these proposed stock and bond issues the Railroad Commission is making a study and analysis of the valua-tion of the Gulf lines of the Atchi-son system.

tion of the Gulf lines of the Atchison system.

At this time the Gulf lines have outstanding bonds aggregating $21,310,000, which matured some years ago, but were extended to 1939. It now has pending application to issue $19,080,000 of bonds and $10,000,000 of stocks, which would make a grand total indebtedness of $50,390,000. This money has already been spent for permanent improvements, having been advanced by the Atchison interest.

The stock and bonds would fund the notes.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has calculated the cost of reproduction, new, of road bed, structures and equipment, $50,-390,135; redemptions, new, with value of lands at time of valuation, $61,735,738; reproduction, less depreciation, but including market value of lands, $52,349,163.

Monthly Payment LOANS

THE MORTGAGE INSURANCE CORPORATION is the only company in California specializing in the insurance of ten-year monthly payment loans, which provide for the monthly reduction of principal with a corresponding increase in security.

These loans are made chiefly to thrifty men and women for the purpose of build-ing or buying homes—a highly preferred type of borrowers. First liens only are insured, and for not to exceed 50% of the appraised value of the mortgaged property.

These regulations are indicative of the safeguards which surround the operations of the MORTGAGE INSURANCE CORPORATION.

$1,000,000 Hotchkiss Redwood Company

First Mortgage 6% Ten-Year Gold Bonds

(Closed Mortgage)

Due May 1, 1935. To Be Dated May 1, 1925 Principal and semi-annual interest (May and November 1st) payable at the office of the Wells Pargo Bank & Union Trust Co., Trustee, San Francisco. Redeemable at the option of the Company at 101½ on any interest date. Coupon bonds in the denomination of $1000.

Application has been made to the Superintendent of Banks to certify these bonds as a legal investment for Savings Banks in California.

EXEMPT FROM PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX IN CALIFORNIA Federal Normal Income Tax up to 2% to be paid by the Company

Security. Bonds will be a first (closed) mortgage on 19,530 acres of timber land in Del Norte County, California, having an estimated stand of 1,450,602,920 feet of merchantable timber, of which 1,162,178,632 feet is Redwood.

Valuation. Estimating value of timber at $3.00 per thousand feet for Redwood and $1.00 per thousand feet for other timber gives total value of $3,744,000. First mortgage bond issue of $1,000,000 is less than 30% of conservative present value of the property.

Sinking Fund. Company covenants to pay a Sinking Fund charge of $2.00 per thousand feet on all timber cut, should it operate the property. As average indebtedness is only 70c per thousand feet this will retire bonds approximately three times as fast as timber is re-

Ownership. Majority ownership is in the hands of Mr. W. J. Hotchkiss. Other ownerships include individuals of large financial resources.

Location and Accessibility. Timber lies in one compact body extending along the Coast from the mouth of the Klamath River north to within 15 miles of Crescent City. It is traversed by the State Highway, and is available for cutting by use of the Del Norte Southern Railroad, with which a traffic agreement will be executed and deposited with the Trustee. Hobbs, Wall & Company will execute a contract giving the Company wharfage rights at Crescent City.

General. Experience and Governmental reports conclusively prove that Redwood timber is immune from destruction by fire. Practically the entire world's supply of merchantable Redwood lies within three northern counties of California. Limited supply and increasing demand creates a ready market for Redwood timber in large blocks, as well as a wide domestic and foreign market for finished Redwood products.

Cruise and report on timber by Messrs. George L. and J. A. McPherson, of Portland and San Francisco, is on file with the undersigned. Legal details subject to the approval of Messrs, Chickering & Gregory, San Francisco, for the underwriters.

Bonds offered when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to final approval of the Commissioner of Corporations.

EXPECT EXCELLENT CROP

Sentiment From Fresno to Stockton Considerably Different From That of Last Year

BY L. M. MAYNARD,

the rain, almost as much as the rain itself, that is bringing plenty from what seemed to be a total loss.

At Madera there is an especially high degree of optimism. The lands in this particular section have not been visited by a price boom, and as a result there is an influx of new population and a decided optimistic sentiment among the farmers that should make this year a banner one for the district. One barley rancher told me that where his barley ran around seven bags to the acre for summer failuw, and three to five bags for winter sown, that this year it will run from afteen to twenty-five bags per scre, and that he was willing to wager that the poorest grain will average ten bags at least.

In the twisting in the Turlock and Modesto section. But this is not five now; they are all looking into a bright crop year.

FRUIT DOING WELL

The fruit in this section looks extremely well, and there is an excellent "set" of peaches and apricots. They told me here that I would see better apricots in that district than any other part of my trip.

There are some bean farmers in what I call the Modesto district.

commission for putting through the deal.

When the transaction was dropped Mrs. Beatty asked for her money back; it was refused by Hough. Following a hearing in which both sides were represented before Deputy Commissioner Richardson, Hough's license was ordered revoked.

Pending the decision on yesterday's appeal, Hough will be allowed to continue business, it was stated last night.

if he doesn't want to. He has enough money. But he works, night and day. He has handy men stationed at strategic points on the political map. He can go to the phone, issue a little advice, plant a little tip, voice a subtle threat, or thunder an ultimatum that will make local political history. "I get e let of fun out of it," Parrot tells his friends. What else does Parrot get out of it?

Some men are driven by an ego. They want their names in print. They are publicity gluttons. But that is not the key to Parrot's behavior.

He neoer hires press agents to glorily him. He does not head drives. He is not the typical Babbit of American city life. He stands in the usings and tells the actors scheet of de.

Parrot is a political boss by instinct—it is in his blood to plot and plan. And the game he plays has left its stamp on his face. The man's eyes are quick and piercing. His jaw is sculptored like the jaw of a burly gladiator. He is saturated with confidence. He is plausible and dominating. He Elected George Cryer Mayor and Gained Control. Parrot became a major factor in municipal politics when he elected George Cryer mayor, three years ago. At that time, Parrot demonstrated his ability to mobilize strange leedfellows. Preschers, reformers, old line politicians were recruited. They were told what to do and they did it. Advise was sought from opposing sources, and followed. In the morning Parrot might be seen in conference with such in old-time political fixer as Leo Youngworth. An hour later he might be in conference with De Montgomery of he anti-salbon league, or a king-pln in the church brother hood.

He Has Two Obsessions and He Works Day and Night

He Has Two Obsessions and He Works Day and Night Parrot s tentacles reach out in a dozen directions. He knows how to get to the nerve centers that control definite political reactions.

He once confided to a friend that he felt capable of meeting any situation, if given time to apply his technique.
Parrot is possessed of two outstanding obsessions—
One is to break up the Crime Commission.

The other is to place tasks in spots where he thinks Harry Chandler, publisher of The Times, is apt to sit dozen.

When it was discovered that the Crime Commission expressed the united disgust of the newspapers with the way the police problem was being handled in Los Angeles, it was time for police bosses to display their distress signals.

Perhaps that is the reason that Mayor Cryer was so resuctant to cooperate with the Crime Commission. Perhaps that is the reason that Mayor Cryer was so resuctant to cooperate with the Crime Commission. Perhaps that is the chief reason he finally broke with the commission.

At Election Time Underworld Pays Its Political Levy men who live outside the law, play an important part in politics.

But since the arrival of Chief Vollmer the pelliphone of his law office associates on the civil service board.

And Parrot's power lies chiefly in his control over key men who live outside the law, play an important part in politics.

Sometimes they "pay the wrong conductor." That is, an impostor circulates among them, and tells them he is collecting for the "big boss." It is pay or be hounded. There is one figure in Los Angeles who boasts how he collected thousands four or five years ago and stuck it in his pooket. The money he levied didn't go to any "big boss." It went in his own pocket. He thinks it was a clever bunco game he played. The people he preyed on think they were huying protection from an administration that was in its very nature willing to be free and easy.

But around election time the gamblers, bootleggers and women of the streets are in the mood to plank down cash, on the theory that they will be permitted to escape the hounding of police regimes to come.

Various interpretations are afloat concerning what Parrot gets out of his game, and how he gets it. The man revels money comes from. It is convenient for him not to be inquisitive. If his mentors can have churchmen and gamblers both eager for his election, the chances of victory are so much the greater.

Kent Parrot may have told Cryer to take orders and ignore or defy the Crime Commission.

If gamblers bootleggers and women contributed to Cryand how to delegated by Parrot to handle the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegated by Parrot to handle the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegated by Parrot to handle the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegated by Parrot to handle the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case and promises nothing. But he gets results. Or sometiment the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case, and Parrot to the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case and the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case and the contributed to Cryand how to delegate the case and the case and recompaign fund, they did so on the fiscer that they we tleast receive tolerant consideration from the police.

And to have a Crime Commission butting in, insisting a fficient police work, might mean difficult complications.

At any rate, Mayor Cryer considered it better to define the Crime Commission, and Kent Parret was the man to depended on chiefly for advise.

If There Was a Recall Plot Record Didn't Know It

Parrot, of course, pterprets the problem differently.

He declares he had reason to believe that the stage was sing set for a recall, and even goes so far as to say that musty 15 was the zero hour. He says that's why he had rows amongst box Montsomery to the police commission, and

If there was a recall plot, The Record knew

Planned to Get Newspapers to Quit Crime Comm

Charlie Jones was appointed police chief. It was the first disappointment to those who had felt and hoped that George Creer was magor in fact as well as in title.

It was, in effect, a pronunciamento, which percolated the police department and throughout the districts through the police department and throughout the districts that first concerned with police machinery. It carried the word, in effect, that this new mayor wanted to get along with everybody.

The hand of Kent Parrot has been seen in practically every important move made by Mayor Cryer since his first election.

And it cannot be dealed that Mayor Cryer has made peccasional good moves.

The administration has modacted the power bureau, and The administration has protected the power bureau, and this is perhaps the most worthy aspiration of the people's whole municipal program.

But this is a story of Parrot—of a personality rather han of issues.

This incident is cited merely to show how even an appellate judge may stick his finger into police politics and be used to open the back door for an off-color cop. When The Record editorially commented on Judge Craig's action, he came up to The Record office to insist that he was not a police boss, and that he was too wise to get involved in police affairs, and didn't want to mix in them.

Power Lies in Control of "Key Men"

He did explain that he had played a part in the appointment of Kinney as Cryer's secretary. And Kinney was and probably still is a handy lieutenant for the bosses who want amoething done without "bothering" the mayor.

Parrot, in defending Kinney, says he can "absolutely trust Kinney" and that he has "known him for years."

Pipe Lines Lead to Important Points

Parrot can feed raw meat to Rev. Bob Shuler, for instance, and expect a definite reaction. He can line up the Anti-saloon league forces through Doc Mont-pomery.

Parrot's tentacles radiate to vital spats.

The parrot's tentacles radiate to vital spats.

Of course, there are usually pipe lines into the district attorney's office and into the grand jury.

Another pipe line must extend to the black belt.

There a local Boss will carry out orders in exchange for favors.

Mrs. Alexander testified she became suspicious of her husband, followed him one night, peeked through a window and saw him reveling with several intoxicated women. She forgave him that time, but followed him on another occasion to a dance hall, where she entered and danced in order to keep better watch; Alexander did not see her, she said, but was told next day she was there and gave her a severe scolding.

But the third time she followed him he gave her the slip and came home first, she declared. As she stepped through the door, she testified, Alexander grabbed her, tore all her clothing off, and spent the time from 11 pm. to 4:30 am, puiling her hair, puiling her ears, hitting her nose, jabbing his thumb in her eye, biting her shoulder and biting her leg, and striking her in the mouth every time she opened, donned a bathrobe and ran te the police station. "Hell's Half Acre has gone york" is the announcement made esterday by "Brother" Tom 14d coat, superintendent of the Mid-yesterday by "Brother" Tom Lid decoat, superintendent of the Midnight Mission, 136 South Los Angeles street.

"Last week the mission outfitted 2600 men with clothes, shoes and underwear, free, of course, and sent them, through employment agencies, to remunerative employment," said Mr. Liddecoat. "More than 600 of these men were taken to the Alaska fisheries and 2000 of them went to the best fields of San Joaquin Valley and to other agricultural sections of the State. We are now serving only about 500 meals a day at the mission, in comparison with 2500 meals a week ago."

Mr. Liddecoat said that the mission has on hand hundreds of women's and children's shoes, dresses and other garments, which will be given free to needy persons who call for them.

"Our new chapel is completed, but we are in need of about 500 more chairs," said Mr. Liddecoat. "At present more than half the worshipers have to sit on the floor during the services. We are looking for quarters on which to establish a home for women who find themselves temporarily embarrassed for money with which to buy food, shelter and clothing. The women's clubs of Los Angeles are deeply interested in the project and we already have several thousand dollars toward the building fund."

HIS PREEDOM

It is said that on his return from his present trip the Prince of Wales will seriously engage in the business of taking himbar and including the courts, as to the manner and including the courts, as to the manner and the extent of squandering money for lobby-self a wife. He seems to be putting it of ing expeditions either to Sacramento or Washington, for publicity, press agents and as long as he can and is looking the whole for a new army of job-holders.

Wolves
When the hunting is good wolves range in pairs. But, when winter comes and small game disappears, they assemble and small game disappears, they assemble and women merely players. He might have down anything that walks on four legs. According to the Russian Commissar of Agriculture, wolves devoured last winter 52,684 horses, 75,000 cattle and practically all the why and wherefore of our theathorses, 75,000 cattle and practically all the deer on the ranges. He recommends using the Red army for hunting the pests. Set a wolf to catch a wolf.

WE BAD ACTORS

When the hunting is good wolves and subject to those afforded by its mild but bracing winters.

That our summers also were mild but bracing was but little realized in other communicies, taught to associate California with palms and citrus groves and general subtropical features. Because other subtropical regions where palms and oranges flourish are not desirable summer residences for white-skinned, blue-eyed Nordics.

Mr. Broun says that we begin our acting at very tender ages. He has seen bables of eight or nine months who went in for influence of the equatorial belt. Our summer attractiveness was unique. We were late suffering and righteous indignation to

CAPETY FIRST

A railway passenger may be said to occupy the position of greatest safety. One of the big lines has carried 4,000,000,000 persons for more than a mile during the last five years without losing a single passenger. Being at home in one's own bed is not nearly as safe as resting in the iron arms of the railroad. While trame tragedies in the city streets have been mounting into the thousands the fatalities in railway operation have failen off more than 60 per cont during the last ten years.

Reports made to one of the Washington departments show that the volume of freight carried by American railroads during the first two months of the present entomologist, stated in a recent report that year was heavier than ever before recorded worms are doing more than forest first to the mouse trap.

Ex-Senator McQuown, in his newspaper, the Clearfield (Pa.) Journal, says that on the day before the bill was defeated Pinger was heavier than ever before recorded worms are doing more than forest first to the mouse trap.

communities to bring, under joint action, water to this section from the Colorado River, municipal-ownership lobbyists and a group of professional job-creators at Sac-ramento are endeavoring to force through the Legislature a so-called water district act calculated not so much to furnish water to the people as to supply hundreds of thousands of dollars for propaganda and campaign expenses.

The Water District Act, originally intro duced by a group of legislators unfamiliar with the contents and purposes of the meas-ure, was one of the most radical and So-cialistic proposals ever submitted to the State Legislature. When more than ninety amendments were made to the measure, a majority of which were adopted to eliminate possibility of arbitrary assessments and virtually unlimited power to issue bonds, sponsors of the act asserted that "all objections" to the bill had been met,

However, in its present amended form, the metropolitan water district bill pro vides for the construction of a tax machine capable of adding hundreds of thousands and, eventually, millions of dollars annually to the cost of government in Southern Cal-lfornia—and at the same time furnishes no assurance that the people's money will be spent either wisely or effectively.

Wholly political in character, the Water Act is supported by the group of machine politicians, headed by Boss Al McCabe, who succeeded, prior to the Richardson ad-ministration, in adding tens of millions of dollars to the cost of government in this

DELAYING THE GAME

The people long ago voted for a new Clity Hall and even authorized the use of the funds. The City Council and the Board of Public Works are at each other's throats in the dispute as to who should have the architect's commission when the work is undertaken, but that appears to be as far as the enterprise has progressed. It would seem that a shake-up at the City Hall was a thing to be greatly desired if the public is to be served.

Solved by engineers and by statesmen, not by small politicians and job-seekers.

The Times was one of the original sponsons of the plan to bring water from the Colorado River. The Times believes that to do so is absolutely essential to the funds. It would seem that a shake-up at the City Hall was a thing to be greatly desired if the public is to be served.

Solved by engineers and by statesmen, not in a California symmer holiday was generally passed over.

Prior to the year 1921, while the winter attractions of the Land of Sunshine were generally well known in almost every civilized country of the globe, the delights of a summer spent in the same region were hardly appreciated outside this State itself and the neighboring States of Arizona and wholly perilous legislation, it is better to accept the delay necessary to start right.

MORE WASTED SYMPATHY

I have often shed tears for Napoleon's wife—
The first one he married, I mean—
I had read that he led her a terrible life,
What time she remained as his queen.
And when he envisioned a chance to advance,
If a sweller young lady he wed,
He put her away without one parting glance,
And married a fright in her stead.

I pitied this lady with all my heart,
I thought of her pale and bowed down.
As she watched her imperial husband depart
To set on another her crown.
I never thought much of that Corsican chap,
Who for bloodshed and murder was keen,
But worse than the way that he ravaged the map,
Was the way he mistreated his queen.

But Josephine seldom, I lately have found,

I'll be sorry for no one on earth!

new artery. With ruthless hand he cut deep into the brown hill's bosom.

"Make way!" he cried. "They come, the people of the earth, and I would cut a way for them to reach the sea." Red cars roar under the quiet dead, carrying the busy workers from Hollywood, from Santa Monica, from the hill-side homes.

Shoppers come with well-filled purses to return with empty ones and many bundles; busy pleasure-seekers, eager for the purchasable joys of life.

The dreamers, so often shabby, wistfully old-fashioned, come, too. They are the richest of all. For there within their hearts are dreams of loveliness. Time caunot rob them, nor the great god. Greed. Their treasures of the mind they long to share, but fate has proved unkind.

On Hill street there is a sighing, and the waves of the air are rich in human emotion. There where a patch of verdant green rests the tired eye of the traveler is the greatest receiver in all the Southland. Men and women pour out upon the air their tales of endeavor and of tears. There they sit. And as eye meets eye the out upon the air their tales of endeavor and of tears. There they sit. And as eye meets eye the heart unfolds and one soul unburdens to another its tale of life.

See the eyes of the lonely ones, how wistfully they watch the passers-by. See how gayly the old ones talk. They know that life is but a jest. The years have taught them wisdom, and death for them is but the coming home, and so they laugh.

wisdom, and death for them is but the coming home, and so they laugh.

It is youth, vibrant, impatient youth that suffers. Love denied, death for the moment were less bitter. Failure to earn the joys of prosperity, so-called, never so black a tragedy before. And, as they sit and talk, the street of the little Hill listens.

When all is still and the big moon shows the huge hotel windows winking and twinkling, like eyes in the night, the street of the little Hill hears many things.

The water plays in the fountain; the statue of the World War Veteran stands quiet and serens. Then the magic of the night descends; even the water is hushed. There is a sound upon the wind. It is a woman crying, and the street of the Hill. All is dark, the moon is hidden. There she crouches at the foot of the noble boy, who signifies sacrifice. And now her eyes are open in dazed wonder, the statue leans over her and speaks. "Arise, my sister, and carry on. Life lies before you and your past is past. I died to live. Arise, let your dead past bury your sin."

And when the red sun touched into radiant glory the fair newborn morning, the woman sat, white and serene, upon a seat. New courage filled her heart.

The street smiled as it listened to the street smiled as it listened by anylous is here.

The street smiled as it listened by anylous is here.

The street smiled as it listened to its noisy sister, Broadway, and went upon its more placid way.

There upon its highway the cars went up and down and carried the stream of life. And there nestled upon the Hill lay the quiet dead.

And the eye of man was ever cent order.

upon the Hill lay the quiet dead.

And the eye of man was ever turned toward the, noble trees and the patch of green grass where one might linger and learn much. When the shadows fall and the lights twinkle there is a dancing light in the eye of a dreamer, passing along on his way toward Hollywood. He sees the big hotel building through the shadowy trees and he murmurs, "Three wise monkeys." His fancies are his wealth. And, as the rich men pass him in their costly cars, he knows that he is richer even than they.

There's a lot of the same o he is richer even than they

And, as he wanders on, the night whispers its secrets. The streets are those of a fairy city, and all is still on Hill street. Only the air is filled with little sights and soft murmurs for listening ears.

Hers is that rarest and most desirable of all accomplishments, the art of reading aloud. And she learned it from her grandmother and the text-book was the Bible, so reassuring to old faiths just now, when we seem to be losing our hold on our three great English classics, the King James version. Shakespeare and Mother Goose. It isn't strange that this little girigrew up to be a poet, when her childhood was nourished on the strong, homely Anglo-Saxon words, the native idioms of our mother tongue and the magnificent rhythms of the English Bible.
Following the reading, Mrs. Young, as she is known to a great many friends, held an informal reception in the foyer. Then, loaded down with flowers, she was carried away to lunch at the Women's University Club, 943 South Hoover street. Other guests of honor at this luncheon were her brother, Stanley Mitchell, W. H. House, principal of the Los Angeles High School, J. H. Doebler, Alma Whitaker and Grace Fry.

DERRICK DEATH SEEN AS SUICIDE Foul-Play Theory Discarded

in Fullerton Enigma Officers, Parents Stumped in Clew Hunt

Coroner's Inquest Jury Fails to Find Cause

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCE)
FULLERTON, April 21.— Stumped in their efforts to run down clews pointing to foul play in the mysterious hanging of Terry Courtney, 14-year-old high school athlete and musician of Olinda the Sheriff's investigators and parents of the dead boy today inined again to the suicide theory.

Sheriff Jernigan and Deputy Mc-Cielland and the boy's father to-day revisited the scene of the hanging and requestioned every-one who has furnished information in the case.

As a result of a recheck of all clews in the case, the investigators are more convinced that the boy committed suicide in a sudden attack of insanity, probably brought on by a recurrence of chronic earache from which the boy had suffered for some time.

A disclosure, which for a time increased the suspicion of foul play, was given to the Sheriff today by searchers, who found and cut down the body. They declared that the thin strand of rope was tied around the body. It was decided, however, that the rope was too weak to have been tied by other persons to restrain the boy, and that he must have placed it around his feet himself.

Investigators today were convinced that persons seen near the Courtney home in Olinda on the afternoon the boy disappeared have no connection with the case. The father had told authorities he encountered a man on the premises and that the skulker dashed away before the father could inquire his business.

NO COMMOTION CLEW ABANDONED

NO COMMOTION Neighbors of the Courtneys, who were at home on the evening the boy disappeared, were requestioned today, and declared they heard no commetion on the evening of the disappearance. If the boy had been assaulted by fiends, it is pointed out, someone near by would have heard his death agony.

by would have heard his death agony.

It is also regarded as important that the boy's body showed no marks of violence.

The inquest into the death conducted yesterday at McAuley & Suter anormary here resulted in an open verdict. Coroner Brown today stated he is more strongly of the opinion that the boy committed suicide and will not order a further investigation unless new developments come. The verdict stated death was due to strangulation.

Funeral services for the boy will be conducted tomorrow at the McAuley & Suter mortuary.

CITY SCHOOL HEAD URGES BOND ISSUE

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey is Supporter of New Branch Campus Site Fund

Failure to provide the necessary $700,000 to purchase the Beverly Hills site will mean the removal of ern Branch, from Los Angeles and an irreparable loss to the commu-nity, it was declared yesterday by Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, City Super-intendent of Schools. And the only way in which the money can be provided in such a short time is by a bond issue, so the bond proposal on the May 5 ballot must be carried, she added

"Many citizens do not appear to understand that the proffer of a free site by each of the communities petitioning for the university was required by the regents." said Mrs. Dorsey. "They must also understand that to raise the money by private contributions within the time set is not possible. The burden should be borne in any event by the whole community as the whole community receives the benefit.

by the whole community as the whole community receives the benefit.

"To place the university away from Los Angeles will be a great injustice to thousands of present and prospective students who live within a radius of twenty-five miles. It will also be a great injustice to students who must work to obtain a college education, because Los Angeles offers the best opportunities of employment. The university here will attract residents who desire to be where their children are being educated."

Be Mr. Brown

Yesterday Jones called on Smith. Jones needed money and told Smith so. Could he accommodate him?

"How much interest?" asked Smith.

Jones mentioned a figure so high that Smith gasped. The security for the loan was giltedged. Smith wrote his check for all he had. A great stroke of business.

Jones left. Ten other men called on Smith that day with the same request on the same terms. But Smith's money was all loaned out. Tough, that he had no more money to put out at such a high rate of interest.

Smith told them to wait—to come back tomorrow. In the meantime he would get in touch with Brown.

Brown would put his money in with Smith's. Together they would put this money out to a waiting line of applicants for loans—fully secured and earning a high rate of interest.

Now the part I play in this drama is that of Smith. Jones is waiting for the loan. There are many of him. Many other Joneses have already been accommodated.

I want you to be Mr. Brown.

I am the chairman of a committee representing a group of well-known Los Angeles business men. You know these men, or, if you do not, you have heard of them. They are important men of this community.

Each of these men has contributed his own money to a fund amounting to several hundred thousands of dollars.

This money has been loaned out at an unusually profitable rate of interest. It is fully protected by collateral of unquestioned value.

Other applications for loans on the same profitable terms are on file. It will take thousands of dollars to meet these requests. But all the money so far contributed is out working hard for its owners. I am authorized to put before you the details of a Plan different, I believe, from anything you have ever had presented to you.

The plan has been carefully worked out. It has been tested and has proved to be extraordinarily successful.

It is not a get-rich-quick scheme, but it is a well defined plan backed and endorsed by some of the leading business men of Los Angeles.

The purpose of the plan and the highly probable return of unusually satisfactory profits will appeal to every intelligent man who wants his dollars to do a man's size job and at the same time remain safe and protected.

There are no factories to be built, no markets to be developed, no wells to be drilled, no mines to be explored, no real estate to increase in value.

In other words the money you contribute to this fund does not wait for a distant future to bring returns.

Your money goes to work for you at once. The dollar you contributed this morning practically goes out this afternoon and starts to earn.

The program calls for the retirement of principal at the earliest possible moment. In other words, just as soon as it can be done, the money you contributed to this fund will be returned to you out of surplus earnings and you will then be operating on "velvet."

The very names of the men back of this plan insure an integrity of purpose, and a soundness of business judgment which should make this a most attractive opportunity for the person tired of small interest earned by "lazy dollars."

There is no secret about this plan even though it is so ingenious in the way it works out. I shall be very happy to send full details of how the plan works, showing the very unusual manner in which profits are pyramided, how the plan has worked out where tested, together with the names of the men who compose the group back of this plan.

All you have to do in order to secure this information is to fill out the coupon below and mail it to me.

No matter in what amounts your money may be invested or lying idle, if you are dissatisfied with the low interest your dollars are earning and feel that they should be returning you greater earnings with safety, you should learn at once the full details of this plan which has been evolved by financial authorities and is now operating profitably with every probability of even greater returns in the very near future.

Please mail the coupon just as quickly as possible.

Carl B. Spencer. 310 Spreckels Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

If you wish to send me further information about the Plan you outlined in your newspaper announcement you may do so. Remember, this places me under no obligation whatsoever.

 Times Grand Finals, Na-onal Oratorical Contest, to place at Los Angeles School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., April 24, 1925, No

Perhaps no honor attained by inals of the national oratorical een so much prized by the champlons as the silver cups donated by different civic and community service organizations and awarded to the school which the champion represented.

These handsome trophies, appropriately engraved, have now been placed among the reminders of notable achievements of their students in each of the schools involved. The schools and their respective cup-winners are: Pomona High, Ronaid Anderson: Franklin High Mary Louise Wages; Loyola College, Eugene McElmeel; San Bernardino High, Wirgii Pinkley: Moorpark High, Frank Colston, and Bakerefield High, Harry Smith.

While the six champions are now all busy perfecting their orations for the last test in this territory. The Times grand finals at Los Angeles High School on the evening of the 24th inst., several of them have found time to communicate to Contest Director Blanks their special appreciation of the cup award.

ears at the 3,7 and 9 oclock shows LORIA'S HOME-COMING BIG TOPIC OF STUDIO

By Grace Kingsley

With the return of Gloria Swanson De la Falaise, from Paris, schedwith a number of new productions with a number of new productions on the way, the Lasky Studios are humming these days as they haven't hummed before in a long time. A special dressing-room suite is being fitted up for Miss Swanson, and if it rains on the day of her arrival one needn't be surprised if a marquee is festooned across the sidewalk on Vine street. Of course, everybody knows that Miss Swanson's picture, "Mme. Sans Gene," is to open at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater on Friday night, and that Miss Swanson will have her husband on parade on that occasion. But she won't have much time to rest as aiready the star's next picture is all set to go.

Allan Dwan, according to the announcement of Jesse L. Lasky, is speeding westward to direct Miss Swanson in her next picture, which will be "The Coast of Foily." Dwan will arrive Friday on the special train, which also brings Miss Swanson and more than 200 delegates to the Paramount international convention of executives, Also on the train will be Forrest Halsey, who wrote the screen play for "The Coast of Foily."

Another important announcement is to the effect that Bessie Love will play the feminine lead in "A Son of His Father," by Hareld Bell Wright, which Bernard McConville is adapting to the screen. Victor Fleming will direct.

with him a portmanteau full of new plays.

"White Cargo," no less, is the chief of these. This sensationally successful play is from the pen of Leon Gordon. The story, if you don't happen to know already, has its locale on the West Coast of Africa, and deals with the adventures of a handsome, athletic young man who arrives to take charge of the operating of a large plantation. Some ten or eleven companies are now touring the country with the play. An odd feature of the production is that only one girl takes part in it.

"Quarantine" is another play secured by Mr. Wilkes for production here. It is now playing the Henry Miller theater in New York City, with Bidney Blackmere in the leading role, and with Helen Hayes and Vivian Martin in the principal femilian parts. Blackmere is to come to Cange Grove.

Dazeys Leave for East

Frank Dazey, playwright, author of "Peter Weston," and his wife, known to the scenario writing world and others as Agnes Christine Johnson, are departing today for New York, where they will remain but a week, as Miss Johnson finds it necessary to return almost immediately to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, where she is under contract.

"But we expect that it will be one of those weeks that one refers to as what-a-week!" explained Mr. Dazey yesterday. "You might call it two weeks, really, as we don't expect to waste much time sleeping, since we have to see all our friends and visit all the new plays."

The Dazeys are nothing if not domestic, so they are taking their two children and a nurse along with them.

Ewing, who dahe is the principal stockholdin the corporation and charged at its affairs are being mismaned by A. R. Fowler, its president that its affairs are being mismanaged by A. R. Fowler, its president.

Mrs. Ewing said she owns $54.oble worth of the company's stock and that, while internal dissension existed between officers of the company over its affairs Fowler persuaded her to allow him to vote her shares by proxy so as to cause himself to be elected to the position he occupies and to secure a beard of directors and officers giving him control of the company.

According to the complaint. E. R. Bohan, manufacturer, and Councilman Miles Gregory, two of the original directors of the company, withdraw from its directorate after Fowler assumed control of the belief Fowler had paid her what purported to be dividends with his personal checks so that she would not conduct investigations into the company's affairs. She further asserted the company had not made money, that Fowler was carrying on a real-estate business. Tringes Los Angeles Times Information Bureau.

With the stock of the company, with the work of the company and host had not conduct investigations into the company's affairs. She further asserted the company had not made money, that Fowler was carrying on a real-estate business in addition to his affairs as an officer of the company and that he had invested the company's funds in securities of a hazardous nature. She asked that a receiver be appointed until such time as a new board of directors and officers could be elected by the stockholders.

The complaint was prepared by the company and such time as a new board of directors and officers could be elected by the stockholders.

The complaint was prepared by Attorney Samuel W. Newman.

Officials of the Gilmore organization could not be reached yesterday for confirmation or denial of the reports.

In oil circles yesterday it was reported that the important features of the deal had been agreed upon, that the transaction would involve approximately $3,000,006, and that it was expected the transaction would be financed largely by an exchange of the stock of the two companies.

Acquisition of the Gilmore company by the General Petroleum Corporation would mean the entry of the latter company into the retail-gasoline business in Los Angeles and Southern California. The General Petroleum Corporation has not heretofore competed with other marketing companies in this part of the State, although it has for more than repeat of the State, and in the Pacific Northwest, principally Washington and Oregon.

photographed like so many tribesmen on other reservations. And they look upon the moving pictures with a strange but interested attitude. They don't just get it.

They look, too, with perplexity at the Chinese who appeared in the rail-laying scenes of "The Iron Horse." They never before had seen orientals. The William Fox Company, which made the picture, obtained a band of coolies' at Sacramento, among whom were some of the old Chinese who had assisted in laying track for the Western Pacific when the road was made to span the continent. Many of these are living on pensions provided by the line. When the picture was filmed, effort was made to employ actors in make-up for the track-laying scenes. But when it came to swinging spike-hammers it was found that there is a knack to it which had to be acquired. The entire gang of extras was laid off and search instituted for some of the old coolies and "paddies" who could swing hammers as they were swung when roads were built in former days.

Col. McCoy has lived for years among the Indians of Wind River Reservation and knows their eccentricities. His life has been spent in the out-of-doors. Dur-ing the World War he organised a regiment of cowboys to be known as the Roosevelt Rough-Riders, one of the finest regiments of cavalrymen in the American Army. When the government saw the excellent array of mounted soldiers it evidently thought it too good an outfit, so it was split up and converted into field artillery. After the armistice Col. McCoy returned to Wyoming and was appointed adjutant-ge eral there.

He was serving in that capacity when Famous Players-Lasky made "The Covered Wagon." They could find no one could assemble a band of red men and handle them for the picture until some one mentioned McCoy. He was sent for and came out of Wyoming with two trainloads of Indians and horses, and later handled the Indians in "The Thundering Herd."

An Out-of-Door Actor

It appears strange to see native red men appearing on a stage and in motion-picture scenes. Their stolid countenances register nothing. In the long line of braves, squaws and papooses which stands back of the footlights at Grauman's Egyptian, there never is seen a smile, a movement of facial muscles—hardly a glance even to the right or the left. Motionless as statues they remain except when, one by one, they are called forward while Col. McCoy extols their former heroic deeds— stories told in the white man's lan-guage. Then they step back in their places and resume that same stolid expression for which the red men are re-

"Ask one to register fear, terror or apprehension!" exclaimed Col. McCoy, derisively, in answer to a question.

"As well ask the Palisades at the beach to quake or the sea to stand still! There would be no response whatever. An Indian wouldn't know how to go about registering fear. But tell the tribe to mount ponies, go tearing up or down a hill emitting war cries, and you would think you were in the midst of an uprising. The red man can be a motion-picture actor only out-of-doors. He is at ease in the great open space where he rides hard and disregards the camera. But he isn't an actor in the white man's social sphere. He enjoys doing anything indicative of life on the even in the realm of make-believe, but he couldn't tolerate a studio, doesn't like the city with its noise of traffic, and isn't keen for appearing before the eyes of curious throngs. He isn't an actor.

"Around the camp fires on the reservation, however, he and his comrades like to tell of their experiences in 'The Covered Wagon' and 'The Thundering Herd' and in 'The Iron Horse,' and their recitals have whiled away many otherwise uninteresting evenings."

COMEDIES CONSISTENTLY GOOD. imagine of a London character and at no time takes herself seriously.

Tom Moore is good, too, though his is a role that almost anyone might fill. He is sincere, however, in his charac-terisation and his performance will be found quite adequate in quality.

To Wallace Beery and Raymond Hat-ton go the real honors. Both have a faculty of stealing every scene in which they appear and never has this fact been more prominent than in "Adventure." Rarely, too, have they indulged in comedy so freely. Pauline Starke, though, holds her own sufficiently well against these two masters of situations to merit a high degree of praise for this accomplishment alone.

Walter McGrail contributes to the excellence of the cast, as does also Noble Johnson as Googomy. Duke Ka-hanamoku, the famous swimmer, is also included in a small part.

The photography, which is especially beautiful, is the work of C. Edgar Schoenbaum.—[Whitney Williams.

THE SCIENTIFIC OUTBURST

It is probable that two of Jules Verne's novels, instead of one, will be used as the inspiration of "The Mysterious Island," which is to be produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. "The Myste-rious Island" is a sequel to "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and consequently some of the story of the earlier book must be told to make the later one clear.

The production is to prove an epochmaking affair in its underseas photography, taken in colors, and new expl tions are to be made in the Bahamas for settings for the film. There ap-pears to be a growing vogue for fea-tures of a scientific imaginative char-acter since "The Lost World," for "Atlantis" is being made by First Na-

"That is," she went on, "it was a sort of progressive lunch. It was out at the studio, where they have a marvelous cook, by the way. Mary was helping make tests for 'Little Annie Rooney,' so she came in to lunch at what she called 'second table,' all dressed up in her little old gingham dress and funny stockings. That, dearie, is when the Princess, Count and Countess dropped in, but I'll tell you about that later.

"I do adore travel pictures, as you know—they are such a bit of highbrow relief to my lowbrow life. So when Dong Fairbanks introduced me to a man whom he called Mr. Holmes, I took a good look. Sure enough, it was Burton Holmes. He is very good-look-ing, and is so snappy and witty that he can even keep up with Doug, and I don't know anybody else who can do that except Mary.

"Burton Holmes, dearle, is going right on to Indo-China, where he has never been. He has a big bunch of Buddha statues collected abroad, you know, and expects to add to them.

"'I'll bet you get most of your Buddhas right in New York!' Doug told "Isn't it funny, dearie, all these cham-pions going in for pictures—Jack Dempsey and Bennie Leonard, and now Tilden. It will get so that nobody can become a picture star without first being a star at something else.

"As I was saying, the world comes to that studio. Doug and Mary never go to cafes. Mary tells me they have been to the Biltmore but once since it was built, and then they didn't dance. She likes to stay home at night, read and PRINCESS MARIE DE BOURBON and the Count and Counters Diu came in then. I suppose having a title gives one courage—anyhow, they came right in without being announced, but they turned out to be quite charming, so it was all right. Mary ordered the boy to bring in coffee and cake for them. The others, you see, had gone out with Doug.

"Mary had such a humorous little smile in the corner of her eye, as she ordered the boy to take the onions off the table! 'Onions!' she seemed to say,

And what is this, below? Grooms? Yes, plenty of them, but it is only another way of denying that Jobyna Ralston is about to be Wouldn't she just do that in a picture?

But the Count was quite here equal, for he came back gallantly with, 'And, my dear, I married an Englishwoman because England is where all the nicest wives come from.'"

FIAVE you had your horoscope read, dearie, by Mr. Bennett?
Well, he was at the luncheon, too, and he wanted to tell Donald Crisp's fortune, but Crisp said it was bad enough when it came along; that he had heard that Bennett was quite infallible, and that if he was going to have any bad luck—and, of course, a person always was bound to have some—he didn't want to know it until it happened.

"Donald was in his bright Spanish uniform, but even so didn't feel brave enough to meet his horoscope. Maybe it was on account of the scene they have to do in 'Don Q.' when Doug save his life from a charging buil. I noticed Donald was very enthusiastic when Doug spoke of practicing distracting the bull's attention with a red cape.

"'Don't,' Donald urged Doug earnest ly, 'don't forget when the time comes that I'm the man you're to save!'

"Doug and Mary are the most won derful hosts. I don't know how they manage to do it—entertaining in the midst of their work and everything, and always being the soul of courtesy and hountralling.

To a Casting Director:

I know you call for beauty,
Pretty face and figure, too.
But haven't you some minor part
A homely girl could do?

'Tis true I'm not good-looking, My hair? It does not curl. But I hoop my brain calls working, And my teeth are bone, not pearl.

My eyes are gray and tender, Like a boy I'm straight but small, What, sir? You ask for experience? Why, I've not had any at all,

But I want to be an extra,
I'm willing to start small.
You see I am ambitious
To be a star at the next Wampas ball.

They say folks are tired of beauty, Doll-like face with Cupid lips, Simpering smiles and not much acting But it's called for in the script.

You use many thousand extras, This I know from movies I have Stalepart lads, old maids and lasses, To develop a picture on the screen

ERY soon after this appears in print, the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudray will be among us: Gloria Swanson is coming back to Hollywood to make a picture—"The Coast of Folly."

Why Gloria la Famous

I have this to say about Her Grace: Gloria is, on the whole, the most remarkable characmotion pictures. She deserves every ounce of the a that has come to her. She fought her way up

And that's not all. Gloria could go out somewhere and lose herself. Change her name and come back to stand in the old line in front of the casting director's window. And she would do it all over again.

It wasn't luck; it wasn't pull; it wasn't looks. Gloria got to the top because she is an artiste to the tips of her fingers, and a determined, aggressive fighter in the bargain.

-A Pull

Almost every week some

"upstage," haughty dam-sel—of any age from eighteen to eighty—storms into The Times office.

She knows a reason why she should have a letter to the movie mag-letter to the movie mag-nates—a sort of passport to studio fame.

Invariably she explains that "the only way to get along in the movies is through a pull."

I should think anyone would be ashamed to get a job anywhere, in any business, through a pull. But, aside from that, this is not a correct statement is not a correct stateme of movie conditions.

It's No Use

From the beginning days when they used to call the studios "camps," I have known Hollywood.

I have never known a single girl—or man—really to get anywhere by a pull. All the people at the top climbed there.

Hard Sledding

Mary Pickford, Blanche Sweet, the Talmadge sisters, the Gishes, Florence Vidor—all of them were slammed around at $5 a day—on lucky days—before they ever got anywhere in the movies.

Mary fairly clubbed her own way into the old Biograph studio to get a job. She didn't know what a letter of introduction looked like. Just so the Gish girls.

Jack Pickford's Story

Jack Pickford's Story

Jack Pickford told me of those old days. He and Bobbie Harron had to get up before daybreak and ride out to the San Fernando Valley on a bicycle carrying the props. They only had one bicycle, so he peddled it while Bob rode on the handle bars.

Jack said that they would first set up the props before the acting began. When the company arrived, he and Bob played the part of Indians all morning. In the afternoon, they dressed up as soldiers and chased themselves over the hills as long as the light lasted.

Dorothy's Beard

Dorothy Gish told me how she and the other little movie girls used to play girls in the close-ups, then they would put on long beards and play old men in the long shots.

The real people of the movies won their fame by main strength and violence.

They didn't climb in through the cabin window.

How Do Mille Found 'Em

None of the girls of later vintage got there by letters introduction to magnates. Cecil De Mille told me Gloria Swanson when he gave her a job. He saw her on the top of her head like a regular lady—holding her in a little picture. She was just standing by a doorway doing nothing—just standing there listening. But there Jane Cowl.

was something so electrical and compelling about her personality that he knew she was due to be a great star.

"Say, What's Your Name?"

This same quality attracted Mack Sennett's attention to Gloria the first day she ever stepped inside a studio.

He told me that he was in a conference in his office when he happened to look out of his window. Some extra girls were coming up the walk together. This one struck his attention with such force that he immediately left the conference and went out to speak to her. "What's your name?" he asked.
"Gloria Swanson," she faltered.
"Well, you are going to be a great star," Sennett blurted out.

Vera Reynolds

Vera Reynolds

De Mille's most recent "find" did not arrive with a letter of introduction, either.

This is Vera Reynolds.

Mr. De Mille says he found her in much the same way as Gloria, He was looking at a little picture made by an obscure company. He saw the feet of a girl. She was standing on tiptoe. Presumably she was standing up to kiss somebody. He came into the projection-room just in time to see the feet, but not the girl.

He tells me that he decided then and there to make a star of the owner of those feet—no matter what the rest of her looked like.

There was something about even her feet that had

There was something about even her feet that had

The Magic "It"

If you have "it," the magnates have just got to give you fame and stardom. They couldn't stop you. If you haven't, all the letters of introduction and political pulls in the world wouldn't be of the slightest benefit.

As D. W. Griffith once said: "If you have it, then it doesn't matter what you do in front of the camera; if you haven't it, well, it doesn't matter what you do in front of the camera."

Shirley Mason's Hit

Another little girl who has battled her way up is, I think, about to land on the map with a splash.

This is little Shirley Mason. I saw her the other day in a heavy emotional part in Sam Rork's new picture, made from Marion Fairfax's play, "The Talker."

Shirley was really wonderful. She was stark, deadly and terrible. Her tragedy had a dull, hopeless note of despair.

So many actresses try to make tragedy beautiful.

This girl made it ugly and sullen. It suggested a soul drenched and impregnated with misery.

Technique

Most of all, this little Miss Mason had a clear, definite technique. In her big emotional climaxes, she knew what to do with her hands and face. Usually they just try vaguely and frantically to claw the moon down out of the sky without knowing just what they are doing.

Debut at Two

The reason of this, of course, is that she has had a thorough training in her craft. I like to see these little girl stage veterans make good.

Shirley Masson went on the stage when she was two years of age, and has been working as an actress ever since. At four she was playing in "The Squaw Man" with William Faversham. At eleven she was playing in stock with her dresses to her shee tops and her hair on the top of her head like a regular lady—holding her

Here is something I can feel coming:

Army stories of the old border days, when the Sioux and the Comanche were in the saddle and the Apache was terrorizing the ranches of Arizona.

The "Charles King" stories are now being filmed by a company working near San Diego. I imagine that these will be the only correct army pictures ever made.

Col. George L. Byram, formerly a famous cavalry officer, has been placed in charge of all the technical details.

Voteran Indian Fighter

Col. Byram was the officer who had charge of the campaign against Apache Kid—the renegade who fought the Mexcian army and the United States cavalry single-handed and outwitted them both.

He was in several big Indian campaigns in the north country against the Sioux and in the one battle that ever occurred between the Crows and the white men.

His most remarkable experience, however, was as the official chaperone and mentor of the far-famed Sultan of Sults.

tan of Sulu.

Scrambled Details

Motion-picture producers have always held to the dea that technical details were not of overwhelming

They thought that it didn't matter if they armed Civil War soldiers with repeating rifles; if they dressed up Indians with Comanche footgear, Sioux war bonnets and Zuni blankets.

But of late years this belief has changed. Even if the public does not definitely know the difference, in some subtle way they get the feeling that something is wrong.

Comedy's the Thing

According to all indications, this is to be a year of

All the producers seem to be in a mad scramble for Warner Brothers have signed Syd Chaplin at a huge salary. Lasky's seem to look upon Raymond Griffith as the bright child of promise among their stars. An examination of their producing program seems to indicate that all the producing companies are leaning hard toward laughs.

The Reason Why

They have been driven to this, I think, driven to this, I think, by several facts.

Chief among these reasons is the stupendous sum earned last year by Harold Lloyd.

Another reason is the fact that "The Covered Wagon" was under the spectacle—as by the spectacle—as ACTUAL PROOF THAT THOSE WHO LAUGH GROW FAT.

The producers also have taken note of the fact that it was a comedy—"Manhandled"—that made Gloria Swanson the greatest box-office card the world has ever known.

Sex Plays

Sex plays are deader than a canned herring. Sob plays are worse.

Sob plays are worse.

It isn't so much the old bromide about people "having too much sorrow" in their lives; rather it is the fact that the laugh is on the common ground. A sex play will go in big cities and flop in country towns. Other kinds of serious drama appeal to women but not to men. A good comedy seems to have a universal appeal.

As a result of the passion for laughs, the movie rights for stage comedies and funny books have shot to the

London Story Fascinating

"ADVENTURE"

"Adventure" is the screen adaptation of Jack London's story and its action is very well summed up in its title. With a South Sea isle as setting, and natives and mutiny and fever, coupled with plenty of suspense, the picture is sure to please anyone who likes adventure and melodrama.

S A rule, all pictures of the tropic isles smack of sameness. But "Adventure" is more than "just another South Sea Island production—its characters are inter-preted with a sincerity and cleverness that have not distinguished any recent play of a similar nature, and the element of humor enters in greater share than usual. Added to this character delineation and ingredient of humor, is the story itself-vivid and interesting.

Victor ning has turned out a most contained piece of work in "Adventure." He has not allowed the interest to waver and is successful in producing screen results of a somewhat thrilling nature. The excellence of the picture surpasses even that of his previous production, "The Devil's Car-

The Day of the Indian

Lo Occupies a Peculiar Position in the Cinema Firmament, Being Almost Exclusively an Out-of-Doors Actor.

By A. L. WOOLDRIDGE

O, the American Indian, a movie actor! He has arrived. The Latins had their day, the sheiks of the Arab land drew the spotlight, and here is Lo, all dolled up in war paint, gaudy blanket and eagle feathers, hearkening to that siren call of "Camera!"

Can he act? Look him over in "The Iron Horse" or see him in person at Grauman's Egyptian in Hollywood and pass your own judgment. Lo's idea of personal beauty down't exactly coincide with beauty de san't exactly coincide with the white man's idea, but he's ready to stack himself up against the good-lookers of any nationality and let the world judge. He probably will laugh at your knickers (if you wear knickers,) just as you may laugh at his red blan-ket and beaded moccasins, but, he will ask, who has the right to decide? Col. Tim McCoy brought two or three dozen Shoshones and Arapahoes to Hollywood for personal appearances. They also work in the films. He succeeded in getting Lo to come only through assurance that the white men and their squaws wanted to meet him. There is old Goes-in-the-Lodge, an Arapahoe chief who has seen eighty

Indians, on certain occasions, enjoy being photographed. In this particular case they clambered aboard a Hollywood fire truck. At right are Red Pipe and Chief Goes-in-the-Lodge. Indians, on certain occas

ing. Goes-in-the-Lodge fought in the Battle of Bates Hole in 1874 and when he found his tribesmen could not whip the combined forces of Shoshones and the white men, he became a scout for Gen. Vook and was a good Indian there-

Then there is Red Pipe, a grissled veteran of sixty, whose greatest distinction is that he makes no claim to being a chief. And Wolf Elk, who doesn't believe in modern civilisation!

They both are Arapahoes.

Among the Shoshones is Charlie Washakie, chief of the tribe, a son of the old Chief Washakie who helped fight off the Cheyennes and the Sloux when they attempted to block the railroad in the '60s. With him are a dozen or more tribesmen with highbrow names and reputations for valor. Shave Head, for instance, is the tribal musi-Then there is Goes Ahead and his friend, Runs Behind, both on speaking terms with Long Bear, Yellow Horse, Mojo and Ice. Ice is a cold proposition.

A few of the Indians know some English, but the greater part of their conversation with Col. McCoy is carried on in the sign language. A request to him for a dime looks something like a Boy Scout signalling into the valley that it's time to eat.

"The pet aversion of the Arapahoe is the Shoshone, and the principal dislike of the Shoshone is the Arapahoe," Col. McCoy says. "They don't have any-thing to do with each other on the reservation, but I manage to keep them fairly well contented there. Nevertheless, it's a sort of 'l'll-put-up-with-you-and-that's-all' feeling. Some time ago we attempted to have a joint tribal cel-ebration on the Wind River Reservation. I called in the chiefs and put it up to them. They went back home and talked it over. Then old Goes-in-the-Lodge returned and said: "Fine! We have joint celebration!

Shoshone celebrate one day; Arapahoe next day!"

"Now there are about 2000 Indians equally. The reservation is approxi-mately ninety miles square. They look on the trip here as something of a lark. When "The Covered Wagon" opened in Europe I made arrangements to take a band of thirty-five to London.

"'No!' the Arapahoes said, 'we not go with Shoshones!' "'No!' the Shoshones said, we not go with Arapahoes! "'But,' they added, 'we so with you!

"There was that much feeling be-tween them. Before we started, how-ever, Yellow Calf came to me in perplexity.

"'My boy,' he said, 'him go to school. My boy, he say England is little island way off in water. We get in big canoe, way on in water. We get in big cance, we go day and day and day. We no see land and trees and things. Maybe miss island and fall off on other side. You think so?" "I assured him we would not miss the island and that we couldn't fall off on the other side of the ocean. We would land all right. Then they consented to go.

"We hadn't been away

long before some of the bucks began getting home sick. And I want to tell you that a homesick In-dian pining for his reservation, is a sorrowful figure. However, I kept that thirty-five in London and Paris almost a year, but the only reason I didn't lose them was because they couldn't walk home. I 'gypped' them out of most of their money abroad, held out on them, and then gave them all of it when we got back. They had bankrolls the like of which they never had seen Indians "The aren't quarrelsome so long as they are kept from 'fire-water.' But when one gets mad he tells the camp about it. The first indication that something has gone wrong is when he starts singing his war song. Then it's time to move. And everyone near moves. An Indian's war song leaves nothing unsaid. He gets it off his chest. He doesn't swear unless he has picked up some cuss words from the white man, but he calls upon all his fathers and his grandfathers and the spirits and gods of war to watch him go into action. Then the fireworks
